Saxon advisory body for the mobility of trainees and employees

Would you like to be a partner of a German apprentice?

Here we have some information for you about our advisory body
APIK:

APIK helps German companies to send their employees and trainees to other countries to broaden their horizons concerning working methods, as well as soft skills and cross-cultural competencies.

Your Company would have a lot of benefits, if you are keen to be a partner company for a German trainee or employee.

The most important benefit for your company would be the chance to have a well-trained German worker who does not need to be paid. Interns can help broaden and develop the skills and experience of your current staff, by adding a different perspective in the office place. Furthermore, your company has the possibility to establish partnerships or co-operations with German companies. In addition, we organise the journey, accommodation and visa formalities.

No extra efforts are needed from your side.
